Charlie is a 29-year-old who found a spot on his back, did not have insurance so put it on the back burner, until the spot got worse and he went to the dermatologist and things took the turn for the worse. Charlie was diagnosed with stage 4 malignant melanoma; the cancer has now spread to his lymph nodes. Charlie is now going to UVA once every 3 weeks for a 3 hour IV treatment called Immunotherapy. All proceeds will go to travel and medical expenses.
